Heritage Protocol Artifacts Form

Preserving the history of the Florida State University requires commitments from many individuals and organizations. Through an initiative called Heritage Protocol, FSU has committed resources to preserve its proud heritage. Now, you have an opportunity to play a major role in this preservation.

Many items that were once used everyday on campus are now treasured memorabilia in homes of alumni, former faculty and staff, and their families. If you have artifacts or documents you would like to share with the University for exhibits (either through donation or loan), please complete the Heritage Protocol Artifacts Form and mail or fax it to the contact information on the form, or you can call Beverly Pitts at 850.644.8495.
